

2nd International Faslane Academic Blockade & Conference

Universities Vs. Weapons of Mass Destruction - Part 2

Wednesday 27th - Thursday 28th June 2007
Trident Nuclear Weapons Base, Faslane, near Glasgow, Scotland

Not just an Academic Exercise:

The 2nd Faslane International Academic Blockade & Conference (FAB Conference) will provide a forum for presenting and discussing papers focused on the impacts of, and alternatives to, the nuclear state. In particular it will focus on the academic arguments against Blair's proposed 'son of Trident' which it is estimated will cost the UK £76 billion by 2030, equivalent to the cost of bringing our CO2 emissions down by 60% over the same period.

The conference is simultaneously a blockade of the Trident nuclear submarine base at Faslane, since it will take place directly at the North Gate of the base, on the road. This is a delightful form of action, one in which we pit our profession against Weapons of Mass Destruction. Please come yourself and bring friends and colleagues, as we seek to continue to educate and mobilise ourselves, police, workers and the general public, and demonstrate that academics are committed to the well-being of the world we study. We would emphasise that the action is not restricted to academics; all who work and study in universities, and all who are trying to think critically about the nature of the world, are invited to join us.

You can Participate in a Range of Ways:

You may present a paper at the conference. We hope that papers will take a variety of forms and reflect a variety of perspectives and disciplines. You are also very welcome to come along to listen to papers and participate in discussion groups. If you choose to do so, you may join those who are willing to continue the conference on the road in order to close down the base, thus risking arrest. We also need participants who do not risk arrest and who can, for example, continue our educational work by handing out papers to workers trying to enter the base on the morning of the 28th. Finally, our action overlaps with a students' week-long anti-nuclear summer camp, taking place close to Faslane from the 28th. The students will join us on the 28th and would welcome you to stay on and offer workshops or talks at their camp if you wish.

What to Do Now:

- Register for the conference by emailing D.Webb@leedsmet.ac.uk with the following info:
 - 1) your full name, university affiliation (if any), contact details
 - 2) whether or not you intend to present a paper
 - 3) whether or not you intend to blockade the gate and thus risk arrest
 - 4) whether or not you are likely to require accommodation
 - 5) which days you intend to participate (27th, 28th, any days of the student camp?)
- If you intend to present a paper, please also supply an abstract to D.Webb@leedsmet.ac.uk, of 50-100 words, by 16th May 2007. You are welcome to send full papers before the event which we can upload onto our faslane365 web page. (Papers should be under 4000 words).
- If you have not already done so, please sign up to our email list to ensure you receive further information: send a blank email to faslane.academic.block-subscribe@lists.riseup.net.

The Previous FAB Conference:

We hope you will come and join us in building on the success, solidarity and sheer enjoyment of the 1st Faslane Academic Blockade Conference. In the freezing cold on January 7th 2007, a group of over 100 academics and students successfully held a conference at the North Gate of Faslane nuclear submarine base. For a two-hour period papers analysing the nuclear situation were delivered from the roadside, interspersed with seminar discussion groups. Then some participants occupied the road itself and continued the conference in a way which kept the gates to the base blocked for several hours. In the end 17 academic staff and 17 students were arrested and spent the night in Clydebank police cells before being released without charge the next day. Many of the police seemed genuinely interested in the arguments and papers being presented, and the discussion groups in the cells were as productive as the seminar had been.

The action received excellent press coverage (see, for example, http://news.bbc.co.uk/2/hi/uk_news/scotland/glasgow_and_west/6237499.stm, <http://education.guardian.co.uk/higher/news/story/0,,1983619,00.html>)

Faslane 365 Campaign:

Both FAB conferences are part of Faslane 365, a one-year continuous peaceful blockade of the Trident base at Faslane from 1st October 2006 to 30th September 2007. Faslane 365 is asking a wide range of local, national and international groups from all sections of civil society to come to Faslane with at least 100 people committed to stay and make their visions for a just and peaceful future visible. See <http://www.faslane365.org> for more information, or contact Angie Zelter, Valley Farmhouse, East Runton, Cromer, Norfolk, NR27 9PN, UK, Tel: 01263-512049, Mobile: 07835354652, email reforest@gn.apc.org.

Non-violent Direct Action and the Police Response:

The Faslane 365 actions are entirely non-violent, respectful of people, and are part of the broader peace and global justice movement for fundamental peaceful change. Since there have been organised nonviolent actions against the base during the last several years there are good relations with the police. The police are normally friendly and respectful, not using brutal tactics but calm arrests. So far over 600 people have been arrested in the F365 campaign and all except 22 have been held until the next working day and given so called "PF letters" saying they will not be taken to court this time...So those of you who have not yet decided to risk arrest, this is your chance to gain an experience of nonviolent responsible academic field work, i.e. action for a pro-human science! (It seems that the reason for the prosecution of the 22 blockaders is generally that they have been repeatedly arrested.)

Edited Book

Our intention is to produce an edited volume drawing on the papers submitted for both FAB conferences, and also including accounts of the blockades themselves and wider analysis of how such actions can contribute to bringing activism and academia together (Contact J.Kenrick@lbss.gla.ac.uk).

We look forward to seeing you on the 27th and 28th of June!
